Music at the Movies

Have you ever wondered what your favorite movie would sound like without music? Music plays an important role in movies, television and media. Music can change the mood of any scene in a film or movie. Click the link <https://safeYouTube.net/w/nwUD> to watch an iconic scene from the animated movie, Lion King, with different music playing each time. As you watch, reflect on the following questions:

Things to Think About

- What is the mood of the scene when there is no music playing? What do you expect to happen next in the story?
- How does changing the music, affect the mood of the scene?
- How did each selection of music affect your feelings or emotions as you watched and listened?
- Did changing the music change what you thought might happen next?

Sound Effects

(at the Star Wars Droid Repair Bay)

Sound effects are artificial sounds, other than music or speech, added to a movie, television show or live production, such as a creaking door or rumbling thunder.
